Okenite; bravely prominent at ostage, found the burden of 123 pour too great and retired in favor of Sacinesca. The latter came with a ruand grabbed third like the good rathe is. Thousands of dollars were loon Peter Pan, which was backed from the to to odds on.

Second the condition of the track, which was slightly dead and cuspy.

100 to 1 Shot Wiss.

The escond race resulted in a regulation holiday winning, Hal, 100 in the control of the track of the long with the race to the loy of the long, who players who wagered $1 or $5. There wasn't anything in the past performance dope that indicated by anymanner that Hal had a ghost of a chance. When they hit the head of the stretch Hal was in the lead and he remained there without encountering a successful challenge. Onds left the pursuing bunch in time to grab second place by a deck from Dead Gone. Wo am with a burst at the end.

Belmont Won—Almost.
